this volume undertakes the important task of envisioning a regional history of asia based on its unique internal characteristics going beyond the usual west non west dichotomy the regional trade zone of modern asia was debated in the 1980s since then japanese historians of the socioeconomic history of asia have explored how the traditional trade relations that had developed over the centuries in asia responded to the so called western impacts in the mid nineteenth century including the opening of ports and tariff reduction under free trade regimes and the advance in transportation technology against this academic background the four chapters in this volume examine how overseas chinese some of the key actors in regional and local trade dealt with their western counterparts and how asian commodities penetrated other parts of the world through the newly created web of global commerce the book reviews discuss theoretical issues to explore various connections among and comparisons of the economies in the region this volume provides readers with critical insights into the asian region in the past and present by investigating the long term trajectory of its linkages to the global economy after examining the global system s political volatility at the dawn of the new millenium the book looks at how some of the identifiable system wide trends e g globalization democratization fragmentation etc may find repercussions in the asia pacific the book also addresses the question of comprehensive security in comparison with other regions in a wide range of areas subsuming economic security geoeconomics environmental security ecopolitics and human security in addition the book recognizes the idiosyncrasies of the region such as the defensiveness of most asian governments toward the protection of their financial markets against external forces following the regional financial crisis of the late 1990s most books that analyse the crucial subject of globalisation only look at it from a western perspective this is the first detailed study to look at globalisation specifically in the asia pacific region an impressive collection of leading interdisciplinary scholars explore various dimensions of globalisation and their relationship to development processes in the region while europe has traditionally been the role model for international cooperation this volume suggests a new highly successful mode using a flourishing operational code of diplomacy known as the asian way asian regional cooperation has gone even further to unite disparate countries for economic and political objectives culminating twenty years of research this volume defines the asian way it then provides details on fifty regional organizations in an effort to study this spirit of regional cooperation highlighting the association of south east asian nations asean the author concludes that asian international relations has been aseanized and increased economic progress has been advanced in two decades through the application of the asian way examining in microcosm how nations conduct their foreign relations in asia this volume provides an extensive list of regional organizations it details their organizational charts provides membership lists and reveals funding formulas and projects undertaken the author explains how through the application of the principles of the asian way the countries of southeast asia have resolved their conflicts harmonized foreign policies begun projects of regional economic cooperation and ultimately advanced prosperity in this pathbreaking work the author integrates questions of justice and stability through a model of deliberative democracy in the plural polity deliberative democracy and the plural polity provides a realistic but critical reform agenda that can animate struggles for justice in an enormously diverse world beginning in 1895 includes the proceedings of the east india association
